One year on!

A year ago, I announced that the large brokering firm Verlingue had become the new shareholder of Groupe Eyssautier.

Today, we write a new chapter by changing our name to “Eyssautier-Verlingue”.

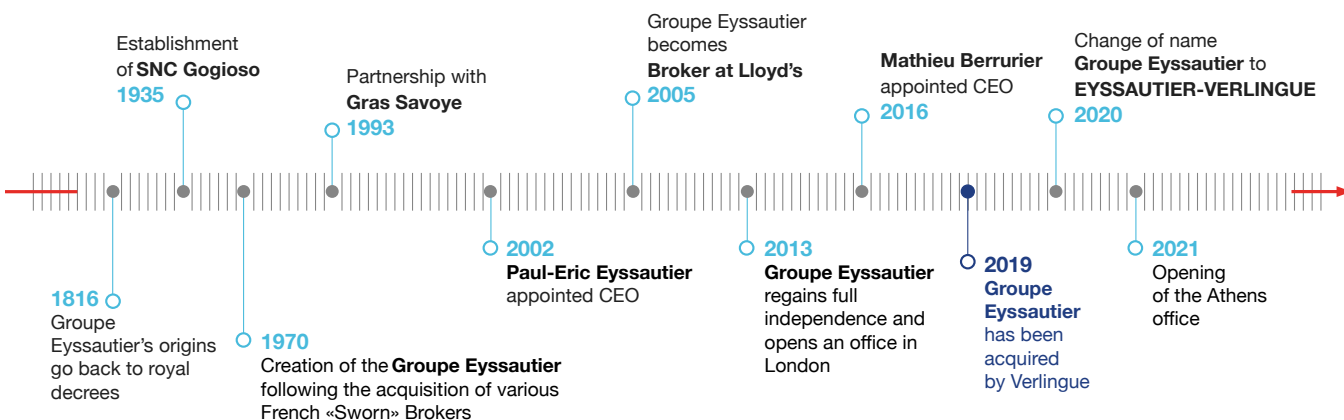

The partnership between these two reputable companies and their determination to pool their values and skills further consolidates a strong name in transport insurance and the maritime industry.

This particularly tough year for businesses worldwide sheds light on the importance of mutualising our strengths, developing synergies and sharing our knowledge with the view always to serve the best interests of our clients.

Our team is now strengthened by the addition of Verlingue’s maritime and transport specialists team, based in Quimper. In addition to a new location, this team joins us on board with a complementary set of skills and expertise.

I am delighted with the perspectives ahead of us.
